Commissioner Seligman asked if fleet vehicles would be affected. Ms. Sellers replied no it would be for major commercial vehicles.

Commissioner Romig asked if someone operating business lists their home address as the place of business but the premise is not physically being used for any part of the business would it be a home occupation? Ms. Barron replied that in terms of vehicular parking, these provisions are designed to maintain the aesthetic qualities of a residential neighborhood as opposed to it looking like a commercial area.

Commissioner Seligman asked if building professionals who for instance work out of their home and store their work vehicles at their residence would be excluded from parking their vehicles on their parkways. City attorney Charles Zech stated that the primary business operations must be conducted entirely within the dwelling with additional items allowed to be kept in an accessory building therefore that would not apply in this case.

Commissioner Romig asked about the significance of the 20 feet limit regarding vehicles that can or cannot be parked to which Ms. Barron stated the 20 feet limit generally is due to the distance of residential driveways and attempting to contain these type of vehicles being parked on residential neighborhoods and taking away from the residential appeal of these neighborhoods.

Commissioner Romig said out of the list associated with prohibiting certain home occupations, if some occupations need to be excluded such as massage therapy and animal breeding. Ms. Sellers advised any amendments should be recommended during the motion to vote.
