MASONRY MATERIAL PERCENTAGES TYPICAL STREETSCAPE Front Elevation Masonry Percentages

Rather than requiring a specific mixture or percentage of masonry and siding on each individual home, we are suggesting that the various materials, such as stone, brick and cementitious siding be applied in a more historically-inspired manner, maintaining the design integrity of each home.

This will provide for a very diverse streetscape with stone cottages, bungalows clad with cementitious siding, and traditional colonial brick homes. Our goal is to create a development reminiscent of the quaint central Texas neighborhoods built during the early 1900s.
