The Summer Reading Program kicked off with the Maker Pfest. Guests enjoyed an afternoon of demos and hands-on activities with artists and makers from the Central Texas area.

Each summer, the library welcomes the kids, teens, and adults of Pflugerville to enjoy a summer full of books, fun, and special events. The library uses Beanstack, an online reading tracker, for all our reading challenges. The entire family is invited to compete in our friendly team-based reading challenge in Beanstack.

New this year, Maker Market, local artisans and makers who have created using the equipment available in the Pfab Lab were invited to sell their goods.

The library continued working on updates during June. The circulation and host desks have been replaced with modular furniture for ease of relocation and replacement when needed.

The library introduced study pods, these pods can be reserved for individual or small group study at no cost. When not reserved, the pods become first come first served.
